4. Other Considerations.
1. TITLE

Listening Tour of Local Actors for Strong, Transparent, and Open Government in Morocco.

2. BACKGROUND AND RATIONALE

The USAID/Morocco Local Works program is designed to advance locally led development and enhance the Agency’s ability to empower local actors to take the lead in addressing development challenges. Forthcoming programming will support Morocco’s Open Government Partnership (OGP) agenda by enabling civil society to engage effectively with key government decision makers and pursue innovations that advance local priorities for transparency and open government. The programming will focus on the Béni Mellal-Khenifra region (BMK), the Tangier-Tétouan-Al Hoceima region (TTA), and Tétouan city, as these locations are formal OGP members.

Before designing the new programming, USAID/Morocco will conduct an iterative listening tour of civil society, government, academia, media, the private sector, other key stakeholders, and everyday citizens, primarily focusing in BMK, TTA, and Tétouan city, but potentially including sessions in other regions to gather learning from OGP efforts elsewhere. Listening tours provide opportunities to hear from local actors directly regarding their priorities, needs, and aspirations for a more stable, transparent, and open Government in Morocco. USAID/Morocco will be tapping into the Consortium for Elections and Political Process Strengthening’s (CEPPS’) existing local networks as part of this listening effort. As a parallel effort, this Call Order seeks to go beyond the usual suspects and formal CSOs to hear from an inclusive group of local actors with interest in, or influence on, Morocco’s OGP commitments, including marginalized women, youth, and persons with disabilities.

Listening is a key methodology to advance locally led development. USAID defines active listening as a deliberate act that signals an interest in learning and is the foundation for good relationships. It is both a skill and a discipline. Listening allows for unexpected responses and open-ended conversation, through an intentional, deliberative, and considerate process drawing upon local knowledge. Open listening enables one to show respect to another and creates space for dialogue. USAID Missions in many countries have conducted listening through focus group discussions, individual conversations, intercept interviews, and other types of respectful dialogue with local actors in diverse communities. Listening can lead to the following benefits for both USAID and communities:

- Stronger relationships, better collaboration and greater trust;
- A better understanding of the challenges, capacities, opportunities and power dynamics in communities;
- Greater community engagement in the process to address potential challenges during implementation;
- The chance to identify and support positive deviants, innovations and good practices;
• Greater transparency and accountability;
• Increased local ownership of both challenges and solutions; and
• Improved possibilities for sustainable outcomes and impacts.

Specifically, the listening tour will enable USAID/Morocco, wider OGP stakeholders, and local communities to develop a deeper understanding of:

• Does/how does Morocco’s participation in OGP resonate with local people, and especially marginalized and vulnerable populations? Does progress on OGP national and regional commitments result in perceived or real changes in daily life for these groups?
• What is important to marginalized and vulnerable populations with regards to stability, transparency, and open government? NOTE: we used a slightly different version of this in the CEPPS scoping document…What is important to marginalized and vulnerable populations with regards to strong governance, transparency and open government?....to avoid the use of ‘stability’.
• How might OGP play a stronger role in advancing local priorities for stability, transparency, and open government? Where is civil society willing to engage, and how can the government create the enabling environment for greater participation from marginalized and vulnerable groups?
• What approaches should USAID, GOM and OGP actors and stakeholders adopt to ensure Morocco’s OGP commitments have material benefits for Moroccan citizens, especially among the most marginalized?

3. PURPOSE

The USAID/Morocco Local Works program is seeking quotations from ML3 BPA Holders to design, conduct, and learn from the listening tour focusing on BMK, TTA, and Tétouan city, and including other regions as applicable, in September-November 2022. Specifically, USAID/Morocco requires support with meeting and logistics coordination; facilitation of listening sessions in Arabic, French, and potentially other local languages (e.g., Amazigh); data capture and analysis; and creation and sharing of learning products.

4. SCOPE OF WORK

The Contractor must provide the following support to the listening tour:

1. Participant Identification and Meeting Coordination:
   • The Contractor must identify and invite relevant local stakeholders to participate in individual or group listening sessions, primarily focusing in BMK, TTA, and Tétouan city but potentially extending to other regions as key learning opportunities are identified.
     o To inform participant identification, the Contractor must prepare a purposive sampling frame for the listening tour in order to intentionally seek out perspectives that go beyond the usual suspects and represent an inclusive group of local actors with interest in, or influence on, Morocco’s OGP commitments. This will allow for saturation in the data collection process in the three target areas (BMK, TTA, Tétouan City), and will include marginalized women, youth, persons with disabilities, and both urban and rural populations.
   • The Contractor must set up and coordinate logistics for in-person individual and group listening sessions in BMK, TTA, and Tétouan city. This includes procuring venue space and refreshments, as needed. Meetings may also be virtual, as needed.

- The Contractor must collaborate with local stakeholders to collect and share contextual information on the identified listening locations with the listening team, including considerations for local gender/power dynamics.

2. Facilitation:
   - The Contractor must coordinate with USAID/Morocco on developing parameters and tools for the listening tour, including a discussion guide and questions, informed consent document, and note-taking template. The discussion guide should include clear definitions of some of the key terms and concepts that will be used when speaking with stakeholders, such as “open government”, “transparency”, etc. and also have a clear and brief description of what the Open Government Partnership is for those participants that may not be familiar with the initiative.
   - The Contractor must lead listening sessions with local stakeholders in Arabic, French, and/or other local languages (e.g., Amazigh), depending on which language local participants speak and understand best.
   - The Contractor must implement the principles of listening during sessions: build deep trust with listening participants, hold your own thoughts and judgments, conduct appreciative inquiry, and interpret non-verbal cues.

3. Data Capture and Analysis:
   - The Contractor must create a thoughtful data capture and analysis plan that applies rigorous qualitative analysis approaches and ensures listening products will capture key themes and recommendations to inform USAID/Morocco programming.
   - The Contractor must capture detailed notes from discussions using a consistent note-taking template.
   - The Contractor must transcribe, organize, code, and analyze notes.

4. Creation and Sharing of Learning Products:
   - The Contractor must develop learning products that share findings and learning from the listening tour in a concise and compelling manner.
   - The Contractor must disseminate and share the learning with USAID and all local stakeholders who participated in the listening tour in accessible formats by email that invite discussion and feedback (by email or phone).

USAID’s Role:
During the kickoff meeting, USAID will co-create the listening questions with the Contractor. USAID will also provide a sample interview guide, informed consent document, and note-taking template from previous listening efforts that may be adapted for the Contractor’s use in Morocco.

During listening sessions, USAID/Morocco team members may join as observers, or participants, but also as facilitators in some particular meetings, if determined to be appropriate by the research team.

Throughout the period of performance, USAID will provide timely feedback on the Contractor’s deliverables and will also be available for ad hoc questions and discussions on the listening approach.

Coordination with CEPPS:
USAID also plans to partner with the Consortium for Elections and Political Process Strengthening (CEPPS). CEPPS members include the National Democratic Institute, the International Republican Institute, and the International Federation for Electoral Systems (IFES). Members will conduct a parallel listening tour of Moroccan CSOs who are part of the CEPPS network. The Contractor under this Call Order will listen to local stakeholders who fall outside of these established groups, with a focus on marginalized women, youth, and persons with disabilities. It is important that the Contractor and CEPPS engage in joint work planning to ensure the parallel listening tours build on, and do not duplicate, each other’s efforts, and that findings speak to one another and can be comparable. USAID will introduce the Contractor to CEPPS and host and facilitate coordination meetings for this purpose.

Schedules and Logistics:
The Contractor is responsible for the administrative support and logistics required to fulfill this task. These include all call/communications, appointment scheduling, secretarial services, report preparations services, printing, duplicating, and translation services.

USAID will assist the Contractor in obtaining any additional program documents and contacts necessary to fulfill the task.

The COR and/or alternate will provide strategic direction and guidance throughout the analytical process, including the development of the final work plan, any data collection tools, and gender analysis report outline, approach, and content. It is expected that many USAID/Morocco staff will be involved with the gender analysis process.
5. PERIOD OF PERFORMANCE

The estimated period of performance for this BPA call is 11 weeks, from September 1 - November 21, 2022.

6. PLACE OF PERFORMANCE

The place of performance under this call order is Morocco. Listening sessions will primarily take place in BMK, TTA, and Tétouan city, but may expand to other regions of Morocco as identified to learn from emerging OGP efforts elsewhere.

7. REPORTS/DELIVERABLES

All reports under this call order must be submitted in English to USAID at the times indicated in the deliverables table. The slide deck must be submitted in English and Arabic. The public summary report must be submitted in English, Arabic, and French.

The Contractor must promptly notify the Contracting Officer’s Representative (COR) of any problems, delays or adverse conditions which materially impair the Contractor’s ability to meet the requirements of the call order.

All deliverables must be submitted to the COR for review, acceptance, and approval before they are considered final.

Other Considerations

1. Gender Implications

The Contractor shall seek to include gender considerations in all phases of this activity, including design and planning of the listening tours, identification of key institutional and individual participants, adaptation of execution methods to the needs of specific target groups (e.g. accessibility for PwDs; accommodate women/girls’s preferences for meeting times and locations; adaptation of questions based on level of education of listening tour participants etc). Offeror is expected to include a section in the quotation on how it intends to ensure the needs and specificities of women, youth and PwDs will be taken into account when planning and executing this BPA call.

2. Branding and Marking Implementation Plan

The Offeror is requested to review the BPA Branding and Marking Plan that they submitted for the BPA, and, if necessary, make adjustments as needed to customize and resubmit the Branding Implementation Plan (BIP) for this BPA call order. Offerors should include in their quotation how they intend to utilize the BIP in their execution of the Scope of Work.

The marking plan may include requests for exceptions to marking requirements for programmatic reasons, to be approved by the Contracting Officer according to ADS 320.3.2.5 Exceptions to Marking Requirements for Contracts. Waivers, as defined by ADS 320.3.2.6, may be considered by USAID for compelling political, safety, or security concerns, or if the marking shall have an adverse effect in the host country. Marking and attribution for physical structures may need to be visible as soon as work commences. Call order deliverables to be marked with the USAID identity must follow design guidance for color, type, and layout in the Graphics Standards Manual, available at www.usaid.gov/branding, or any successor branding policy.

3. Environmental Compliance

The Foreign Assistance Act of 1961, as amended, Section 117 requires that the impact of USAID’s activities on the environment be considered and that USAID include environmental sustainability as a central consideration in designing and carrying out its development programs. This mandate is codified in Federal Regulations (22 CFR 216) and in USAID’s Automated Directives System (ADS) Parts 201.5.10g and 204 (http://www.usaid.gov/policy/ADS/200/), which, in part, require that the potential environmental impacts of USAID-financed activities are identified prior to a final decision to proceed and that appropriate environmental safeguards are adopted for all activities.
Environmental compliance obligations under these regulations and procedures are specified in the following paragraphs of this call order. In addition, the contractor must comply with host country environmental regulations unless otherwise directed in writing by USAID. In case of conflict between the host country and USAID regulations, the latter shall govern.

No activity under this call order will be implemented unless an environmental threshold determination, as defined by 22 CFR 216, has been reached for that activity, as documented in a Request for Categorical Exclusion (RCE), Initial Environmental Examination (IEE), or Environmental Assessment (EA) duly signed by the Bureau Environmental Officer (BEO). IEE ME 18-71 received concurrence from the Middle East BEO on August 14, 2018, and is valid until September 30, 2025, for activities under this call order.

Categorical Exclusion is recommended for all activities envisioned under this call order, which will not have a negative effect on the natural or physical environment.

Specifically, the activities envisioned in this solicitation fall into the following classes of action:

- Education, technical assistance, or training programs except to the extent such programs include activities directly affecting the environment (such as construction of facilities, etc.)
- Analyses, studies, academic or research workshops and meetings
- Document and information transfers

As part of its kickoff meeting and agreed work plan if any, the contractor, in collaboration with the USAID Cognizant Technical Officer and Mission Environmental Officer or Bureau Environmental Officer, as appropriate, shall review all ongoing and planned activities that will be specified in this call order to determine if they are within the scope of the approved Regulation 216 environmental documentation. If the contractor plans any new activities outside the scope of the approved Regulation 216 environmental documentation, it shall prepare an amendment to the documentation for USAID review and approval. No such new activities shall be undertaken prior to receiving written USAID approval of environmental documentation amendments.

Any activities found to be outside the scope of the approved Regulation 216 environmental documentation shall be halted until an amendment to the documentation is submitted and written approval is received from USAID.
